A. General information about the course:

1. Course Identification

1. Credit hours: (3)

This course is designated 3 credit hours. In Section 3, 'CONTACT HOURS', a detailed breakdown of the course's contact hours is provided. Meanwhile, Section C, 'COURSE CONTENT', elucidates the primary topics, themes, and sub-areas that the course will cover, ensuring students are aware of the academic terrain they will navigate throughout the term. It is essential to refer to these sections for a comprehensive understanding of the course's structure and content.

3. Level/year at which this course is offered: (Level 5- Year 3)

4. Course General Description:

This course provides Bachelor of Arts in Translation students with a comprehensive understanding of translation and interpreting. It covers key theories, practical methods, and professional ethics. Students will explore foundational concepts, develop hands-on skills, and address ethical issues relevant to the role of translators and interpreters. The course focuses on three main areas:

Theoretical Foundations – Key translation and interpretation theories.

Methods – Practical approaches to translation and interpreting.

Professional Practice – Skills development, ethical considerations, and professional roles.

By the end of the course, students will be equipped with the knowledge and skills necessary for effective practice in the field of translation and interpreting.

5. Pre-requirements for this course (if any):

TRN2331: Introduction to Translation

6. Co-requisites for this course (if any):

N/A

7. Course Main Objective(s):

- Demonstrate understanding of key translation and interpreting theories, including equivalence, reader-response, and cognitive processes.
- Perform sight and direct translation accurately while comparing and applying different methods.
- Execute consecutive and simultaneous interpreting techniques in authentic contexts, with critical analysis of methods.

- Adhere to ethical standards, including confidentiality, impartiality, cultural sensitivity, and respect for copyright in translation and interpreting.
- Develop strong written and oral communication skills, with emphasis on revision, editing, and real-time interpreting interactions.

3.0	Values, autonomy, and responsibility
3.1	Reflect on your own learning experience and explore options to continuously develop your competence as translators and communicators.	V1	Class Discussion: Encourage students to reflect on their translation skills, challenges, and strategies for continuous improvement. Ask students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• “What have been your biggest challenges in translation so far?”</li> <li>• “How have your translation and communication skills improved during this course?”</li> <li>• “What strategies or tools have helped you become a better translator?”</li> <li>• “What areas do you still need to improve?”</li> </ul> Divide students into small groups (3-4 students per group). Assign each group a task of discussing. Each group shares one key insight about translation growth and improvement. Instructor provides feedback and suggests additional strategies for professional development. Observation: Monitor how students assess their own learning progress and collaborate to identify development strategies. While students are engaged in group discussions, observe and take notes	The course coordinator will decide the specific details of this assessment, including the format, criteria for evaluation, and how the results are measured.

This schedule accounts for the complexity of the tasks, the time required for teaching and practice, and includes additional time for review and assessment. The distribution may need adjustments depending on the students' progress and the actual time each topic requires. Always be ready to adapt and change according to the needs of the students.

Remember that it's important to have interactive activities, engage students in discussion, and incorporate real-life context into teaching to help students better understand and apply what they've learned.

D. Students Assessment Activities

Outlined below are the student assessment activities for this course, each mapped to an overarching course-level learning outcome. While this mapping provides a broad framework for understanding the intended skills and competencies to be gained, it is worth emphasizing that it does not fully encapsulate the evaluation spectrum. Beyond the scope of course-level learning outcomes, assessments also capture unit-specific and lesson-specific objectives that are integral to evaluating the full spectrum of student academic achievement and growth. Hence, these assessments are not confined solely to the learning outcomes to which they are mapped; they also serve to evaluate the nuanced objectives specified in individual units/chapters and lessons within the course. Please note that the Midterm is cumulative, covering the course material until that point in time, whereas the final exam encompasses the entire course. Although all assessments are mapped to specific learning outcomes, this should not be interpreted as a limitation. In the table below, you'll find a quiz listed among various assessments. If only one quiz is indicated, it may be divided into two parts at the discretion of the course teaching team, with the original grade allocation being proportionally adjusted.

E. Learning Resources and Facilities

Please note that the textbook(s) listed as required for each course are intended to be used as primary resources for course content. Instructors are expected to use these books as a foundation for their teaching materials, while also having the flexibility to adapt and supplement content from available sections or online versions as needed. The semester coordinator will ensure that the materials used align with the learning outcomes and maintain the highest-quality educational experience. The required textbook list serves as a starting point, and the actual course content may also include additional or adapted resources. We appreciate your understanding and trust in our commitment to delivering an engaging and comprehensive educational experience.

Semester-End Learning Outcome Mapping: Systematic mapping of all questions on all assessments to course and program learning outcomes is conducted at the end of each semester. This process involves the use of a specialized Excel sheet from the Deanship of Academic Development and Quality, which operates at two levels: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>❖ First Level: An assessment blueprint is created, in which each question on all assessments is mapped to a specific Course Learning Outcome before the assessments are conducted.</li> <li>❖ Second Level: After the assessments are administered, the results for each question are inputted to evaluate the alignment and performance against the predetermined Course Learning Outcomes.</li> </ul> 2. Program Learning Outcome Surveys: Rigorous surveys are designed and implemented to

	quantitatively and qualitatively measure the attainment of program-specific learning outcomes.	3. Course Satisfaction Surveys: Comprehensive course satisfaction surveys are carried out, using factor analysis to identify key variables that influence student satisfaction levels. 4. Alignment and Quality Committee Oversight: Each Course Learning Outcome is meticulously aligned with a corresponding Program Learning Outcome. Both are documented in the course specification and must be adhered to. A separate analysis on this alignment is conducted by the Program Level Quality Committee to ensure compliance and effectiveness. It is imperative that all instructors duly complete this alignment as outlined.
